REALTOR NAMED AGENT FOR ALL BUSINESS PLACES

BUSINESS PROPERTIES

The Biggest Retail Shopping Center Ever Built By Single Firm

(Special to Courier)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22 — The appointment of Lionel Friedmann & Co. as sole agents for rental of all business properties in the biggest retail shopping center ever to be built by a single firm—the $25,000,000 "downtown" section of Levittown, Pa., was announced today by Levitt and Sons, Inc.

The giant center, to be completed in three years, will center on an off-the-highway mall connecting with the Bristol Pike in the middle of Levittown. The Bristol Pike is the eastern boundary of the Levitt property.

Together with a town hall and a railroad station on the main line of the Pennsylvania, the area will become the commercial hub of both Levittown and Bucks County, Lionel Friedmann, head of the realty firm, predicted.

Within three years the center will sustain the 70,000 people expected to occupy thousands of homes in the new town in the heart of the critical defense area of lower Bucks County.

"The same land use and design principles used in planning Levittown residential neighborhoods will be applied to the business section to make the development the most

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

In the tempo of modern existence too little attention is given to great Americans of another day, their lives and achievements. One of these, whose natal day is little observed, is Benjamin Franklin.

Benjamin Franklin was one of the greatest Americans of all time, and if the nation has deviated from his teachings, it is the worse for it. Great publisher, inventor, statesman, he is regarded as the great advocate of thrift.

It is difficult to realize that Franklin, if alive, would now be 246 years of age. But this is a fact, for he was born on January 17, 1706. Most of his life was lived under the British crown—he was 70 when the Revolutionary War broke out—but he is best remembered for the roles he filled in those days when a new nation was being born.

Franklin went to Canada and tried to persuade the Canadians to join the revolting colonists below the border, a project which failed, but he deserves an A for effort.

Certainly it would not have been to the disadvantage of the United States had it succeeded.

In his autobiography Franklin left a wealth of advice, history and entertainment that deserves to be widely read by Americans of today. Franklin truly was one of the American giants.

AN OLD STORY

Thousands have purchased, from peddlers, sweaters made of material so inflammable that a spark can consume them in 30 seconds. This is an old story with a new twist.

Newspapers describe the buyers as "unsuspecting." Those who buy from itinerant merchants who vend their dubious goods from the back of a truck or the luggage compartment of an old sedan are always unsuspecting. They are also unable to resist what seems like a "bargain." Those who pass up these fabulous and furtive offers take it for granted there's something wrong with a product that has to be marketed in this manner—and frequently they're right.

There is no honest product that cannot find a market through an established merchant who pays taxes and rent and is ready to back up the goods he sells.

Many a man or woman has come a cropper because of inability to resist the appeal of avarice. The hope of getting something for nothing is ever present in the human nature. But those whose torsos have been seared by explosive sweaters are learning an old lesson the hard way.

It costs more than $50,000 a year to be one of the 10 best dressed American women. Which may explain the familiar feminine complaint, "I have nothing to wear."

Reform groups always direct their activities to reformation of others, instead of their own members.

A professor says college football is a racket. Cheerleaders try vigorously to make it so.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1952,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—By way of illustrating the State Department security standards it should interest you to learn that its Loyalty Board does not consider it out of line for a high level Department official to be living with a Chinese woman who is a paid agent of the Soviet government while he has a wife and two children back home in the United States.

The Civil Service Loyalty Review Board recently studied the record of this official after the State Department Loyalty Board had given him a clean bill of health. Evidence before the Review Board showed that the Chinese woman was in the pay of the Russian government and that the State Department official loved the woman. In fact, the Review Board records show that the official, at one point in his globe trotting, returned to the United States for the purpose of divorcing his wife so he could marry the Communist agent.

State Department Loyalty Board members had the record before them when they cleared the official of disloyalty charges. They knew the facts of the case for two years but took no action. This prompted one Review Board member to wonder if the State Department might not at least have found the official "unsuitable" for federal employment, if not disloyal, since he represented this government in high level international negotiations on a number of occasions involving talks with the Russians. The Reds are not averse to blackmail and the official involved seemed particularly susceptible to it because of his love affair.

There was considerable pondering by Review Board members, however, about where love ends and loyalty begins. Several cases in which a wife was known to be a Communist, while there was no proof that the husband was, also disturbed the Board's deliberations. One member stated:

"I cannot say that I think from a knowledge of human nature, that because we can see that a man is loyal to his wife necessarily means that he is a Communist and disloyal to his country. He is not required in the sacrament of matrimony to promise he will support her in all of her political and economic views, and I cannot see that there would be the slightest difficulty to an individual faced with that. I think we should go slow to conclude that a marriage, or relationship of father and daughter—there was one in the Commerce Department—involved the individual in a divided loyalty."

Another Board member thought otherwise. He argued that when the record shows a person is known to be living with a paid agent of the Russian government, the Board most assuredly should consider the fact in ruling on the individual's loyalty. He said he could not bring himself to consider such an individual a "safe" employee of the State Department.

It was pointed out that the Civil Service Commission, which had the facts in this case, could have brought them to the attention of the State Department. One Board member insisted that it would take three or four years to get rid of an employee on a charge of unsuitable conduct. This is not actually true, however, unless the employee is a war veteran, which was not the case in the Chinese love affair. Federal employees can be fired forthwith for misconduct, although the State Department seems unaware of this.

The Chairman of the Loyalty Review Board, Hiram Bingham, in a discussion involving the adoption of a "reasonable doubt" standard for loyalty, played the role of a harsh Cupid when it comes to love and loyalty. He said:

"The situation with regard to a few of the cases that I have had the opportunity of studying has led me to the belief that we should change. For instance, in the State Department, there is a case of a man who might be said to be a rather weak sister. There is no evidence that he is a Communist. His wife, on the other hand, who is not in the State Department, has a very close association with Communists. She, at one time, saw a good deal of them in the days before they went underground in Washington.

"I came to this conclusion. That living with his wife, he was undoubtedly loyal to his wife; and from all the evidence he couldn't be loyal to his wife and at the same time loyal to the U. S. Government in the sense in which I think loyalty deserves to be used."

Shouldn't the same standards apply to Communist mistresses as well?

Speeders ChiefMenace On Roads

to speed by persuading drivers to "slow down for safety's sake."

The key relationship of speed to the upward death curve in highway accidents in recent years has definitely been established, according to Thomas N. Boate, public safety director of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies and acting manager of its accident prevention department. The tendency to higher speeds increased deaths on highways in rural areas by 3,200 in 1950, he said, accounting for all but 300 of the 3,500 jump that year in the death toll for the nation as a whole, compared with 1949. Last year, he added, rural deaths due to speed probably increased nearly 5,000 over the 1949 total.

A former captain of Pennsylvania's state police who has often seen dead speeders and their innocent victims in wrecks on the highways, Mr. Boate urged that speeders be made the No. 1 target of enforcement and educational campaigns throughout 1952 "to make a real start towards saving 10,000 lives this year"—the goal of more than 8,000 newspapers' intensive highway safety efforts. He recommended that law enforcement authorities be backed up in every possible way in drives to round up and penalize speeders.

In some states, Mr. Boate pointed out, drivers lose their driving privileges for speeding offenses.

This has been an effective deterrent, he said, expressing the hope that more states would take similar action to curb "veritable jet-propelled speed" on the open road and thus help to hold down the growing number of fatalities.

But drivers themselves, he declared, must be convinced of the utter folly of reckless speeds to "save time," endangering themselves, their families, and other innocent persons on the streets and highways.

Excessive speed increases the severity of accidents two to three times, compared with mishaps at lower speeds, Mr. Boate emphasized. In one state a survey showed that on a super-highway where speeds of 70 miles per hour were permitted, and often exceeded, 4.5 per cent of all accidents were fatal, compared with 1.5 per cent in crashes on other highways in the same state.

"Speed is now causing up to half of all motor vehicle deaths in a number of states," said Mr. Boate.

"A correspondingly high proportion of those injured and crippled for life in highway accidents are caused by speeding. Speed killed 13,300 men, women and children and its injured victims totaled 475,000 in 1950. Last year these casualties were greatly increased because of the growing tendency to speed.

Letters of administration in the estate of William J. Zimmerman, Bristol, were granted to Charles J. Zimmerman, 1032 Chestnut street, Bristol. The heirs of the decedent, who died Nov. 22, are a mother, Janice; a brother, Charles J., and two sisters, Anita Ruhl, Croydon, and Jane Schweitzer, West Bristol.

In the estate of Dr. John R. Shepler, Doylestown, who died Nov. 7, letters of administration were granted to his widow, Dorothy K. Shepler, Linden Terrace, here, amounting to $2500 and upwards.

Heirs in the will of Mary F. Bickel, Falls twp., who died Nov. 12 and left a $50 estate, include Emma Bickel, 370 Linden avenue, of town; Anna Bickel, Ossuville; Florence Senkow, Perkasie, RD; Nellie and Olive Slack, Falls. The will was made March 13, 1950, and the testatrix named J. Allen Hooper, Morrisville, executor.

Mrs. Barbara Fretz Wasser, of Bedminster twp., who died Nov. 14 and left an estate of $2400, in a one-sheath holographic will divided it into nine equal shares. The will was dated Feb. 28, 1948, and a son, Mahlon Wasser, Bedminster merchant, is the executor.

Letters of administration in the estate of William A. King, Hulmeville, were granted to Pearl M. King, Hulmeville, amounting to an estate of $500. A son, Edward R.; five grandchildren, and a daughter-in-law, P. M. King, are the heirs.

CIVIL ACTIONS

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 4.—A suit entered by a resident of Bristol R. D. 2 is one of five civil actions entered in Bucks County courts.

Julio Naiano, Becker Farms, Croydon, has been named the defendant in an action in trespass by Harry Long, Bridgewater road, Bristol, RD 2, claiming $237.50. The suit grows out of a truck, which the plaintiff was driving, and a car accident on Newportville road, July 13.

Action in assumption: Joseph C. Romano, trading as Romano Brothers, Norristown, vs. Paul Lawrence of the "A & L" market, Perkasie, for $51.30, dated June 28.

In a two count action in trespass, Willard Smith, Hellertown, RD 1, has been named the defendant by William Reichard, Riegelsville, RD 1, who claims $130.45, and Irma Reichard, of the same address, who claims $5,000 damages.

The plaintiff was going east on Route 212, near Springtown, and the defendant west Jan. 23 when the accident happened.

Matthew M. Buckley, Penndel, in an action in assumption, has been named the defendant by Norman Chambers, trading as American Heating Equipment Co., 632 Lamberston street, Trenton, N. J., for $599 growing out of a heating plant deal on Little Brook road, Princeton, N. J., Aug. 17, 1949. The claim is dated Jan. 16, 1950.

Mrs. Verne Landis Kerr, Sellersville, has named her husband, Arthur W. Kerr, Jr., 101 North Main street, same borough, the defendant in a divorce action. They were wedded Sept. 6, 1941, in the Reformed Church.

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

George School

NEWTOWN, Jan. 22—A prediction—made 70 years ago—of Russia's "fantastic energies" that would change the face of Europe is part of the record of four great thinkers published this week under the signature of William Hubben, author, editor and director of religious interests at George School.

Seeking to probe European thought as a means of understanding today's world, Mr. Hubben in "Four Prophets of Our Destiny" (Macmillan Co., New York), relates the anxiety, fear and sense of impending doom on the part of Kierkegaard, Dostoevsky, Nietzsche and Kafka. Only one of these 19th Century writers and philosophers won acclaim during his lifetime—Dostoevsky. As in any age, the others won for their visionary predictions only the scorn of their contemporaries.

A hundred years ago Kierkegaard spoke of the coming collapse in Europe. Four score years ago Dostoevsky foresaw a powerful Russia rising from the ruins of the Continental powers. He also predicted that Russia would turn toward Asia one day and that "China and India will belong to us." The George School teacher's book says that Nietzsche envisioned Russia's "fantastic energies" and the eventual collapse of the middle class and its religious standards. Kafka, a gifted storyteller, looked beyond his pictured collapse of Christianity and portrayed highly realistic scenes in a world devoid of justice and mercy.

Mr. Hubben, who lives in Newtown, was born in Germany and rose to prominence in German editorial and educational circles before he lost economic opportunity there due to his opposition to Hitler. Emigrating to the United States, he joined the George School faculty in 1934. More recently editor of the country's leading Quaker magazine, in addition to his teaching duties, he has also become an often sought speaker for educational and civic groups in this area. He and his wife live on Penn street. Their older son is with the Atomic Energy Commission; the younger son is studying to be a veterinarian.

George Wilhelm is Found Dead of A Pistol Wound

Ferris, and Deputy Coroner William L. Goldfarb.

According to Chief of Police Joseph Seader, Mrs. Wilhelm informed him that during the early part of the evening she found that her husband had the weapon, and that he threatened to "end it all." Mrs. Wilhelm, unable to get the pistol from her husband, ran to the home of a neighbor and telephoned her son-in-law, Ralph Linck, Edgely. Linck called for Chief Seader, who responded with Officer Shaw. When the two officers arrived Linck was awaiting them outside the Wilhelm home.

Using his flashlight, Seader noted through the window that Wilhelm was seated, bending over, on the davenport in the living room. The men forced a door open, gradually pushing away a chair which had secured it. Seader saw that Wilhelm had been shot through the mouth, but thought there was a faint pulse. Bucks Co. Rescue Squad was summoned, and also the physician who pronounced Wilhelm dead.

Relatives and friends are invited to the service at the Molden funeral chapel, 133 Otter street, Thursday at 2 p.m. Friends may call Wednesday evening. Burial will be at convenience of the family.

PRAYER

Someone has said: "Hem the day with prayer, and it will be less likely to ravel out before night." We know of no better way to keep the day from unravelling.

The Christian opens every day with prayer. He asks God for protection, for guidance, and direction. At night he offers thanks for answered prayer and pleads for pardon wherever he may have done wrong.

Prayer, after all, is nothing but daily conversation with God, made possible by Jesus Christ. Through Christ we have constant access to the Father. For "whatever ye shall ask the Father in My name, He will give it you."

Once you learn to come to God through faith in Jesus Christ as your personal Savior from sin, then your days and your years can be securely hemmed in by prayer and insured against unravelling.

The Biggest Retail Shopping Center Ever Built By Single Firm

(Special to Courier)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22 — The appointment of Lionel Friedmann & Co. as sole agents for rental of all business properties in the biggest retail shopping center ever to be built by a single firm—the $25,000,000 "downtown" section of Levittown, Pa., was announced today by Levitt and Sons, Inc.

The giant center, to be completed in three years, will center on an off-the-highway mall connecting with the Bristol Pike in the middle of Levittown. The Bristol Pike is the eastern boundary of the Levitt property.

Together with a town hall and a railroad station on the main line of the Pennsylvania, the area will become the commercial hub of both Levittown and Bucks County. Lionel Friedmann, head of the realty firm, predicted.

Within three years the center will sustain the 70,000 people expected to occupy thousands of homes in the new town in the heart of the critical defense area of lower Bucks County.

"The same land use and design principles used in planning Levittown residential neighborhoods will be applied to the business section to make the development the most

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

In the tempo of modern existence too little attention is given to great Americans of another day, their lives and achievements. One of these, whose natal day is little observed, is Benjamin Franklin.

Benjamin Franklin was one of the greatest Americans of all time, and if the nation has deviated from his teachings, it is the worse for it. Great publisher, inventor, statesman, he is regarded as the great advocate of thrift.

It is difficult to realize that Franklin, if alive, would now be 246 years of age. But this is a fact, for he was born on January 17, 1706. Most of his life was lived under the British crown—he was 70 when the Revolutionary War broke out—but he is best remembered for the roles he filled in those days when a new nation was being born.

Franklin went to Canada and tried to persuade the Canadians to join the revolting colonists below the border, a project which failed, but he deserves an A for effort. Certainly it would not have been to the disadvantage of the United States had it succeeded.

In his autobiography Franklin left a wealth of advice, history and entertainment that deserves to be widely read by Americans of today. Franklin truly was one of the American giants.

AN OLD STORY

Thousands have purchased, from peddlers, sweaters made of material so inflammable that a spark can consume them in 30 seconds. This is an old story with a new twist.

Newspapers describe the buyers as "unconscious." Those who buy from itinerant merchants who vend their dubious goods from the back of a truck or the luggage compartment of an old sedan are always unsuspecting. They are also unable to resist what seems like a "bargain." Those who pass up these fabulous and furtive offers take it for granted there's something wrong with a product that has to be marketed in this manner—and frequently they're right.

There is no honest product that cannot find a market through an established merchant who pays taxes and rent and is ready to back up the goods he sells.

Many a man or woman has come a cropper because of inability to resist the appeal of avarice. The hope of getting something for nothing is ever present in the human nature. But those whose torsos have been seared by explosive sweaters are learning an old lesson the hard way.

It costs more than $50,000 a year to be one of the 10 best dressed American women. Which may explain the familiar feminine complaint, "I have nothing to wear."

Reform groups always direct their activities to reformation of others, instead of their own members.

A professor says college football is a racket. Cheerleaders try vigorously to make it so.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
 (Copyright, 1952,
 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22

By way of illustrating the State Department security standards it should interest you to learn that its Loyalty Board does not consider it out of line for a high level Department official to be living with a Chinese woman who is a paid agent of the Soviet government while he has a wife and two children back home in the United States.

The Civil Service Loyalty Review Board recently studied the record of this official after the State Department Loyalty Board had given him a clean bill of health. Evidence before the Review Board showed that the Chinese woman was in the pay of the Russian government and that the State Department official loved the woman. In fact, the Review Board records show that the official, at one point in his globe trotting, returned to the United States for the purpose of divorcing his wife so he could marry the Communist agent.

State Department Loyalty Board members had the record before them when they cleared the official of disloyalty charges. They knew the facts of the case for two years but took no action. This prompted one Review Board member to wonder if the State Department might not at least have found the official "unsuitable" for federal employment, if not disloyal, since he represented this government in high level international negotiations on a number of occasions involving talks with the Russians. The Reds are not averse to blackmail and the official involved seemed particularly susceptible to it because of his love affair.

There was considerable pondering by Review Board members, however, about where love ends and loyalty begins. Several cases in which a wife was known to be a Communist, while there was no proof that the husband was, also disturbed the Board's deliberations. One member stated:

"I cannot say that I think from a knowledge of human nature, that because we can see that a man is loyal to his wife necessarily meant that he is a Communist and disloyal to his country. He is not required—in the sacrament of matrimony—to promise he will support her in all of her political and economic

to speed by persuading drivers to "slow down for safety's sake."

The key relationship of speed to the upward death curve in highway accidents in recent years has definitely been established, according to Thomas N. Boate, public safety director of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies and acting manager of its accident prevention department. The tendency to higher speeds increased deaths on highways in rural areas by 3,200 in 1950, he said, accounting for all but 300 of the 3,500 jump that year in the death toll for the nation as a whole, compared with 1949. Last year, he added, rural deaths due to speed probably increased nearly 5,000 over the 1949 total.

A former captain of Pennsylvania's state police who has often decried speeders and their innocent victims in wrecks on the highways, Mr. Boate urged that speeders be made the No. 1 target of enforcement and educational campaigns throughout 1952 "to make a real start towards saving 10,000 lives this year"—the goal of more than 8,000 newspapers' intensive highway safety efforts. He recommended that law enforcement authorities be backed up in every possible way in drives to round up and penalize speeders.

In some states, Mr. Boate pointed out, drivers lose their driving privileges for speeding offenses. This has been an effective deterrent, he said, expressing the hope that more states would take similar action to curb "veritable jet-propelled speed" on the open road and thus help to hold down the growing number of fatalities.

But drivers themselves, he declared, must be convinced of the utter folly ofreckless speeds to "save time," endangering themselves, their families, and other innocent persons on the streets and highways.

Excessive speed increases the severity of accidents two to three times, compared with mishaps at lower speeds. Mr. Boate emphasized. In one state a survey showed that on a super-highway where speeds of 70 miles per hour were permitted, and often exceeded, 4.5 per cent of all accidents were fatal, compared with 1.5 per cent in crashes on other highways in the same state.

Speed is now causing up to half of all motor vehicle deaths in a number of states," said Mr. Boate. "A correspondingly high proportion of those injured and crippled for life in highway accidents are caused by speeding. Speed killed 13,300 men, women and children and its injured victims totaled 475,000 in 1950. Last year these casualties were greatly increased because of the growing tendency to speed.

George School

NEWTOWN, Jan. 22—A prediction—made 70 years ago of Russia's "fantastic energies" that would change the face of Europe is part of the record of four great thinkers published this week under the signature of William Hubben, author, editor and director of religious interests at George School.

Seeking to probe European thought as a means of understanding today's world, Mr. Hubben in "Four Prophets of Our Destiny" (Macmillan Co., New York), relates the anxiety, fear and sense of impending doom on the part of Kierkegaard, Dostoevsky, Nietzsche and Kafka. Only one of these 19th Century writers and philosophers won acclaim during his lifetime—Dostoevsky. As in any age, the others won for their visionary predictions only the scorn of their contemporaries.

A hundred years ago Kierkegaard spoke of the coming collapse in Europe. Four score years ago Dostoevsky foresaw a powerful Russia rising from the ruins of the Continental powers. He also predicted that Russia would turn toward Asia one day and that "China and India will belong to us." The George School teacher's book says that Nietzsche envisioned Russia's "fantastic energies" and the eventual collapse of the middle class and its religious standards. Kafka, a gifted storyteller, looked beyond his pictured collapse of Christianity and portrayed highly realistic scenes in a world devoid of justice and mercy.

Mr. Hubben, who lives in Newtown, was born in Germany and rose to prominence in German editorial and educational circles before he lost economic opportunity there due to his opposition to Hitler.

Emigrating to the United States, he joined the George School faculty in 1934. PRAYER

Some one has said: "Hem the day with prayer, and it will be less likely to ravel out before night." We know of no better way to keep the day from unravelling.

The planning commission's report also includes a list of agencies which it has contacted during the past year in seeking professional help in the matter of local planning.

These include: The Pennsylvania State Planning Board, the Morris Knowles Organization, the Institute of Local and State Government of the University of Pennsylvania and Russell Vannest Black, a planning consultant.

After months of study the commission recommended to Borough Council that Black be hired as a special planner and consultant. Black has already begun the task of drawing up a master plan for Morrisville and this will be available not later than April, 1953.

Once you learn to come to God through faith in Jesus Christ as your personal Savior from sin, then your days and your years can be securely hemmed in by prayer and insured against unravelling.

NESHAMINY SCORES WIN OVER DELHAAS

Neshaminy High School registered a 50-32 win over the Delhaas Junior Varsity team yesterday on the Rohm & Haas court. Neshaminy, because of its height advantage, controlled the boards all afternoon.

Delhaas came within five points of the Neshaminy total in the third quarter when it cut a 24-16 half-time lead to 24-19 before the boys of Coach Harry Franks began to drop in field goals. In the final quarter, Delhaas played the visitors on practically even terms as it scored 11 points to the winners' 12.

Al Hoffman was high for Neshaminy with 19 points, while Larry Katz had 9 points for Delhaas. The Wards took advantage of a lull in the Mill Streeters' scoring in the second quarter. In this session, Profy's scored but five points while the ultimate winners had 12. Fifth Ward had a half-time edge of 28-18 and kept the lead the remainder of the fracas.

Frankie Barbetta and Joe Costello did fine work in the defense for the winners and also contributed 21 points to add to 10 amassed by Bill Condit, former Bristol High star.

For Profy's, "Ham" Konefal tabbed 19 points on eight double-deckers and three fouls.

Fifth Ward's best work was from the foul line as it converted 8 of its 15 tries.

LUCISANO DROPS GAME DESPITE POANE'S POINTS

Despite 27 points by Johnny Poane, the Lucisano Brothers dropped their fourth straight game of the Bristol Basketball League last night as it bowed to Franklin A. C. 65-57, on the Goodwill Hose Company floor. The triumph brought a halt to the 3-game losing streak of Franklin.

Franklin captured the contest by going on a scoring spree in the final period when it amassed 30 points while holding the Lucisano team to 16 points.

Most of the Franklin boys were hitting the nets in regular form with Dezy DeLise getting 17 points, Harry Goulding, 15, and Bill Wallack, 11. Stan Lelinski also hit the double figures with 11 counters.

Poane was the only Tullytown player to hit double. He got off to a slow start in the first quarter in garnering but three points but made 24 points in the final three sessions to be top man for the tilt.
